Schedule 'B' Reasons for Designation

Description of Property

18 Princess Street in the Municipality of Port Hope is located on the west side of Princess Street near the intersection of Princess Street and Ward Street. The rectangle-shaped lot is approximately 0.08 hectares in size with a frontage of approximately 15.1 metres. The main building on the property, notably the Mitchell House, is a one-and-a-half story frame building. A driveway is located north of the house. The house is positioned close to the street.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The subject property has cultural heritage value or interest for its physical/design, historical/associative and contextual values.

The subject property has physical value and design value because of the main residence. This residence, known as the Mitchell House, dated to the early 1870s, is a representative example of a vernacular front gable house from the latter half of the 19th century in Port Hope with Classical Revival influences.

The subject property has historical/associative value for its association with the Mitchell family who were important early builders in the town of Port Hope. Notably forming a pair of brick houses along with 16 Princess Street, the houses were built by the children of William Mitchell who along with his brother Robert was responsible for the construction of many early buildings.

The subject property has contextual value because it supports the character of the area. The character of the area is defined by a number of residential and commercial buildings that developed by the late 1860s and constructed by the Mitchell family. It is also part of a neighbourhood that developed around and was connected to St. Mark's Church on King Street. The setback and positioning of the main residence with respect to Princess Street contribute to its character.

Heritage Attributes

The cultural heritage value or interest of the subject property is represented in the following heritage attributes:

- The setback, placement, and orientation of the building on Princess Street (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
- The main building, including:
 - The one-and-a-half storey form, scale, and massing of the building (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
 - The rectangular footprint of the house (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
 - The red brick in a stretcher bond pattern and coursed rubble foundation composed of rough stones of irregular shape (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
 - The front facing gable with moderate overhanging eaves and a medium pitched roof (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
 - The off-centre main entrance with a semi-elliptical shaped transom window with single light (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
 - The open verandah which extends the full length of the front façade supported by tapered columns with plain balustrades and a decorative dentil moulding in the fascia (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);

- The double hung wooden segmental arched windows with matching wooden storm windows with two-over-two and six-over-six sash with plain lugsills, plain surrounds and brick radiating voussoirs (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
- The polychromatic brick work on the arched voussoirs in contrasting buff brick on the upper and lower semi-elliptical windows (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
- The south-west rear entrance door to the kitchen extension set in a stepped parapet wall with a semi-elliptical single light transom with storm door and a two pane interior wooden door (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values); and
- The south-west rear entrance door header which incorporates polychromatic brick work with arched voussoirs in contrasting buff brick (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values).
